Talmage's Brooklyn Tabernacle Burned for the Third Time.

PRIGHTFUL, FURIOUS PLAMES

The Magnificent House of Worship Suddenly Catches Afire and Is Totally Destroyed. Graphic Account of the Confiagration. Hotel Regent Also in Ashes.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., May 13.-"Talmage's Tabernacle burned down" is an old story in Brooklyn. Three times it has been told to the world, and just at present it is a question if there will ever be another "Talmage's Tabernacle" in Brooklyn, though pledges of assistance have already been made since the the structure was destroyed at noon to-day.

This edifice, the fourth in which the doctor has prenched in Brooklyn, was situated on the northerly side of Greene avenue and extended from Clinton avenue on the west to Waverly avenue, 200 feet away.

Adjoining the church was the Hotel Regent, eight stories in height, with a frontage of ninety feet on Clinton avenue and extending back two hundred feet to Waverly avenue. The fire spread from the Tabernacle to this hotel, and then to the dwelling houses on Greene avenue and Waverly avenue opposite the church. The wind carried the blazing einders in such quantities in a southeasterly direction that dwelling houses on Washington avenue, two squares away, and also the Summerfield Methodist church, were set on fire by them, but the greatest loss to any one of these structures did not exceed $15,000. The total loss, however, reaches over $1,000,000.

Mrs. Talmagy tells the following story of the fire:

"The doctor was still in the pulpit, shaking hands with the people, of whom there were nearly a hundred probably left. His back was to the organ. I was standing up at the end of the pew talking with Mr. Martin, of Chicago, who wanted to see the doctor with messages from loved friends in that city. I looked up toward the ceiling and saw a tongue of flame burst out between the pipes of the organ. I at onee called aloud:

"Doctor, the church is on fire."

"He turned and toid all the neople to retire, while he went into the study to get a few things. I waited for him at the door. The flames spread very rapidit, so quickly that some of the rusties were overcome and had to be helped out. The doctor joined me soon after, and we went down to Lafayette avenue to a friend's, where we remained until we could hear that friends in the regent were out of danger and what prospect there was of savine any of the church. The doctor himself held quite a reception at his home, No. 1 South Oxford street, durin the alternoon, so great was the stream of sympathizers who called, among them Rev. ennis S. Hamlin, of Washington, D. C., who caupled the pulpit of the First Presbyterian hurch this morning. He had preached the edication sermon of the building them burners are some three years are and when he ing some three years ago, and when he grasped the hand of Dr. Talmage he said:

"Doctor, you have my deepest sympathy, but you should not be so flery."
The two men clasped hands for a moment and then Dr. Talmage replied: "It is a blessing that only the building is gone; the work will continue, and we can all thank God that no life or limb is injured."

Pr. Talmage made a graphic statement of the incidents connected with the fire. He said. "At the close of the church services I was standing at the foot of the pulpit shaking hands with hundreds of people from all hands. I was about through and walked toward the

We went out into the church; one-half of the organ was down and the fire had leaned to the roof. I saw that nothing could save the building, and I came out."

The tears were coursing down the doctor's checks, and his voice broke as he told the story, but in an instant he spoke with his old

There is mercy on top of the disaster. If If had occurred one-half hour before it would have been the calamity of the century. "Personally, I feel not the least item of disreasonate, I feel not the feest field of the feest field of hope for the future. This long procession of disasters is hexplicable—like what occurs sometimes in a family, four or five dying from seariet fover. It is inexplicable. We must scarlet lever. It is inexplicable. We must simply accept the fact."
"Our church has been burned three times.

"Our church has been burned three times, and it has always occurred on a Sunday. It is a mystery that I adjourn till the next world shall let us know. It is the Lord. Let Him do what seemeth good in his sight."

When asked for his own opinion as to the cause of the fire, he said, emphatically: "Electric lights; electricity caused this fire, as it did that of the last Tabernacie, on Schormschur street."

Schermerhorn street,"
The doctor then crossed two fingers and continued: "It was some misarrangement of the wires. Electricity is a force that is only the wires. Electricity is a force that is only partially harnessed. It is one of the greatest agents of beneficence and power in the future, but just now it has the bit in its mouth and almost beyond our control. Electricity was undenbtedly the cause of the fire."

Continuing, Dr. Talmage said: "The fire may change my entire programme, and I do not think I will start on my trip around the world, as I intended to-morrow night. I, however, do not know what I shall do." The doctor was then called into a conference in his back parior with the trustees and elders of the church, who were all present.

The Tabernacle has a membership of over 4,000 on the pastor's books, but the congregation is only bounded by the capacity of the building. In the Sunday school there are 1,200 scholars registered, the attendance varying with circumstances and seasons from 700 to 1,800, and when in session the children are controlled by 1,800, and when in session the children are controlled by just 100 officers and teachers.

Mr. W. Martin, of Chicago, said: "I was Mr. W. Martin, of Chicago, said: "I was in the nisle behind Mrs. Talimage waiting for the doctor to get through his handshaking. I had a message for him from Chicago, and Mrs. Talimage told me to wait and she would call him in a few minutes. When she saw the fire and gave the alarm I remained by her, and when the doctor ran up the platform and into his study I accompanied Mrs. Talimage to the door, I think on Greene avenue. The fire spread very rapidly, and in a munute or two the roof was wrapped in flames. When the doctor was brought to us a few minutes later he and Mrs. Talimage went away together, the doctor frequently looking back at the burning edifice."

The fire was the most destructive, rapid, and at the burning edince.

The fire was the most destructive, rapid, and furious that has visited this city for years. It started shortly after noon, when fortunately all but 100 of the 7,000 morning worshipers at the Tabernacle had departed and at a time when the guests at the big hotel were somewhat prepared the city.

It was nearly twenty minutes before the fire-men arrived on the scene and then half a hun-dred streams of water were turned upon the biazing pile. But the church was doomed, and every effort was devoted to saving adjoining prop-blazing pile. But the church was doomed, and every effort was devoted to saving adjoining property.

In three hours only the bare walls of one of the costliest structures of Brooklyn remained standing. Long ere this, however, it became evident that the Hotel Regent was also doomed. The fire started here on the second story, but was speedily extinguished. This proved to be only a temporary relef, for a little later flames were discovered in the upper story, blowing flercely up the air shaft.

The inflammable nature of the material and the great open amphitheater of the Tabernacle gave such a draft that the fire was forced into the air in columns of glowing flames that a made fearful picture of destruction.

Fiakes of burning wood and red-hot cinders were shot up as from a volcano, and carried by a strong breeze they swept through the air in every direction. The heat, too, blistered the fronts of the houses on the opposite side of the streets, and before long both sides of Greene avenue were in a blaze. So, too, were the houses on Waverly avenue, but as fast as they broze out the people and the fremen extinguished them. Then the walls of the Tabernacle began to crumble and fail, and the great rush of flames which followed started the houses burning again, and at the same time flames were seen burstling forth from the roof of Summerfield M. E. charch, a short distance and the fire streets were cleared as well as pessible by the police, but hundreds of people remained and claim within the courtyards, too enger to witness the sight to obey orders.

Within half an hour the magnificent hotel was suddenly discovered that he had left valuable papers and jewelry in his room, which was on the soventh floor. In a moment he had made his way to the fire-escape and assended it with the case and skill of a practised fireman. The flames and smoke were already beloking forth in volumes from the floor above, and it was feared that the daring man would pay with his life for his temerity. The crowd heid its broath in suspense. All at once a mighty cheer arose, and the young man was seen to climb coolly out of the window with a satiety.

The heat and the showers of sparks and embers had unde the situation an extremely trying one for the men of the fire department, and one man. George Cunningham, of Engine Company 10, had to be carried from his post when the heat was the most intense, but he afterwards returned to his post. John Gaffney, of engine 14, had an epideptic fit from heat and prostration, and was remeved to the Homeopathic hospital. He is not considered to be in danger.

After a couple of hours the efforts of the firemen were directed to the front of the Durning hotel and a 180 of each the country of the property of the firemen were directed to the front of the Durning hotel and a 180 of each the country of the property of the country of the property of the propert

Dr. Talmage made a graphic statement of the incidents connected with the fire. He said. "At the close of the church services I was standing at the foot of the pulpit shaking hands with hundreds of people from all hands. I was about through and walked toward the center of the church, where my wife stood, when she called my attention to fire springing out from the top of the organ. I saw at once that it was under full headway, and my first impulse was to look around and see how many people were then in the house, and to my great joy there were only about twenty people and with twenty-five doors to get out through, I felt that they would all escape. "I then went into my study back of the platform, passing under the blazing piping, to get my hat and coat; and then I said to myself, is it manly to run? No. So I walked up and down the study-room, rejoicing that the fire had occurred when there was no chance of a fatality. While in this sort of brown study a New York friend rushed into the room and, taking my arm, said. "Get out of this room immediately or you'll not get out of this room immediately or you'll not get out of this room immediately or you'll not get out of this room immediately or you'll not get out of this room immediately or you'll not get out of this room immediately or you'll not get out of this room immediately or you'll not get out of the room and, taking my arm, said. The insurance, the re-ceipts, and the money realized from the sale of the present site would enable them to pay off all their desits. Then, according to the plan, they would rease $200,000 and within a year would be-gin to build. GREAT HANDICAP TOMORROW

Pinal Preparations on a Track as Past as Lightning.

CLIPFORD IS HEAVILY BACKED

Trainers Criticise His Chances, but the Public Is Talking With Its Money-Dr. Hasbrouck's Great Sprint Yesterday-List of Startors, with Weights and Jockeys.

NEW YORK, May 13 .- To-day at the Graves nd track the candidates for the Brooklyn Handicap, to be run Tuesday, got their final preparations. It was a beautiful day and the track was as fast as lightning. One of the est moves of the day was that of the great sprinter, Dr. Hasbrouck, who covered five furlongs in 1:01% with ease, while Harris was waving his hat to the boy to go slowly.

All over the track were knots of trainers discussing the chances of the horses in the big race, and there were as many favorites as there were groups. It was, however, conceded on all sides that the race was more open than in any previous year, and that whichever horse won he would know that he had been to the races. It was also practically settled that the starters would not number more than fifteen, and that the chances were decidedly in favor of as many as that appearing at the post at 4 o'clock to run for the most vatuable handicap of the year. The list of starters, with weights and

It is said that the owners of the western It is said that the owners of the western crack, Clifford, are prepared to back their horse heavily at the last minute, which will send him to the post an even stronger favorite with the public than he is at present.

There is no doubt that the colt has been well backed in the Winter books, but almost all of the money has been laid by the public and the friends of the owners. The trainers, as a rule, are not praising the horse highly, and almost to a man they declare that he will not win. One of their arguments is that a favorite rarely does win, and another is that western reputations have not yet been justified when tried in the East.

western reputations have not yet been justified when tried in the East.

However, Clifford will carry the greater part of the outside money, and will be probably as heavily-backed a favorite as any in recent years. He was out on the track today, and cantered around slowly twice, his work having been done on Saturday. At that time he covered the mile and a quarter in 2:11½, the best he has done since his arrival at Gravesend. He looks fit to run for his life, but has much to overcome to win from the good lot he is going to meet.

Sir Waiter is the favorite among the trainers, and his work thus far has been excellent. He has been prepared at the Jerome Park track, and all sorts of reports have come down in regard to his speed. His best move was made on Friday, when he covered the handleap distance in 2:10½, on a track which is at least two seconds slower than that at Gravesend—Boggest is confident that he will ride him to victory. Sir Walter, however, is not an early horse, and is looked upon to do his best work later on in the season.

Alax is another choice of the knowing ones. He was out for a canter to-day, his work having been done on Saturday, when he was sent a mile and a quarter in 2:12%. It was good work for this horse, as he does not like anything over a mile and an eighth. He will have Garrison on his back, which is worth a good deal to a horse, and this morning the jockey was down to 116 pounds, two less than the weight allotted to Ajax.

TO HELP THEIR MOTHER.

Two Children Commit Spicide Rather Than

VIENNA, May 13,-A sad affair occurred here -day. A poor widow named Jerabek had two children, a girl and a boy, aged 11 and 9 years, respectively. The woman was compelled to work hard to support herself and her children, who were too young to give her any assistance in the battle with grinding poverty. Young as they were the children saw that their mother was handleapped by them, and they determined to kill themselves and thus relieve her of the burden of their support.

The shopkeepers in the Arcade, who heretofore allowed the men most unlimited credit, now demand cash for the necessities of life, it is the same in Kensington, and here the effect of the strike is more noticeable than even in Pullman. The most serious question which is agitating the minds of the men is, "Where is the financial assistance coming from?" years, respectively. The woman was comport.

To-day they went to one of the bridges spanning the Danube and mounted the parapet. Then they hastily embraced and kissed each other, and classing hands jumped into the river. Before assistance could reach them their bodies were swept out of sight. When the mother returned from her work she found a note, in which the children said that as they were only a burden to her they had decided to commit suicide.

The widow is frantic because of the loss of her boy and girl, and it is feared that she will become incurably lineane. A search is being made for the bodies at the expense of several charitable persons, who have signified their intention to bury the remains if they are found.
